Mr. Schuette,

I am lead trial counsel for Dassault, charged with enforcing Dassault's SolidWorks copyrights. This case has now been referred to me because you have not responded to attempts by Mr. Foley to resolve this matter with you. I have reviewed the file, and the case is solid. Our investigation shows that, over a more than 1 year period, your company was responsible for at least 393 separate incidents of infringement occurring on multiple computers. Our investigation further found an email domain 'unitedmachine.shop' associated with your company and the IP address '70.187.118.66' associated with your company facility on Middlegate Road in Henderson, NV.

I am authorized to prepare and file a Complaint for copyright infringement against you in Federal Court. Before going down that road, I want to make you a final offer to resolve this case. Dassault will resolve the case for $45,000 USD. That amount may be used as a credit to purchase SolidWorks licenses from Dassault at MSRP (and pay the additional applicable sales tax), if you wish. This is my last email and final offer to resolve before moving forward with the Complaint. If you would like to get this matter resolved pre-litigation, please respond to this email no later than 5:00pm ET on Thursday, September 21, 2023. After that, the offer is withdrawn, and we will pursue the full amount of Dassault's damages, statutory damages, your profits, and Dassault's attorneys' fees.
